

Residential camp for students, parents from today

The camp will focus on disciplines such as engineering, medicine, science and literature. Experts from various sectors will lead the classes

Express News Service
Kollam, December 28

A two-day residential camp for education orientation, Sahavasa-10, for students, aspiring for higher studies, is being organised under the auspices of the Amrita Viswavidyapeetam at its Amritapuri campus on December 29 and 30.

The students of Standard X to Plus-II, accompanied by their parents, have been given admission to provide them guidelines for selecting options for higher studies. Over 100 students and their parents are attending the camp.

The camp will focus on disciplines such as engineering, medicine, science and literature. Experts from various sectors will lead the classes. There will be introduction on several disciplines of higher education by eminent educationalists. Aptitude tests and review by experts, talk on importance of selecting a profession, separate sessions on streams such as engineering, medical, arts and science and one-to-one interactive session with experts will be part of the camp.

Career guru B S Warriar will deliver the introductory lecture. Dr Venkat P Rangan, Vice-Chancellor, Amrita Viswavidyapeetam, Dr Chandraprasad Sreedhar, former Director, IMG, Thiruvananthapuram, M P Chandrasekharan, Dean, Amrita School of Engineering, P S Chandramohan Nair, former Director ANERT, Dr Rahul, Dr Lakshmi and Dr Manu (all the three from Amrita Institute of Medical Sciences), K Babu Joseph, former Vice-Chancellor, CUSAT and Girtija Vellabhan, International School of Photonics, CUSAT, will lead the classes.