

States »South

Posted at: Dec 19 2018 7:09PM

↩ Share

Southern Naval Command inks MoU with Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham

Chennai, Dec 19 (UNI) A Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) was signed between Headquarters, Southern Naval Command (HQSNC) and Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham at the University's campus at Coimbatore on Wednesday for academic and research collaboration.

A defence release here said the MoU was exchanged between Vice Admiral Anil Kumar Chawla, Flag Officer Commanding-in-Chief, Southern Naval Command (SNC) and Dr P Venkat Rangan, Vice Chancellor, Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham.

This MoU would encompass fields of mechanical engineering, electronics and communication, computer science and other areas of mutual interest such as bio science, medical and cyber security.

Speaking on the occasion, Vice Admiral Chawla spoke on the essentiality of such partnerships in academia between the armed forces and civil establishments towards developing new technologies, providing out-of-box solutions to complex technological issues as well as in pursuing the mission of 'Make in India'.

He said signing of this MoU will form the foundation for exchange of ideas and development of new technologies in the future.